1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 21-23, 26, 29-31 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hsien in view of Lamond.

Hsien discloses all of the claimed subject matter except for the shroud having a substantially non-twisted external portion, both ends being tapered, and the shroud being "molded". Lamond discloses molded handle shrouds that are non-twisted and whose outer surface does not necessarily conform to the inner surface or handle surface shape. The cavity of the shroud of Lamond corresponds to the cross-sectional shape of the tool main body portion and includes a circular external shape with a tapered end which is tapered toward the wrench head end of the tool. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the external portion of Hsien as non-twisted or not conforming to the inner surface or handle surface shape to allow for a smooth, more comfortable outer surface as inherently taught by Lamond.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the shroud of Hsien as molded as such would have been an obvious method of manufacture for its know properties as taught by Lamond.

Hsien discloses a shroud with one end having an elongated opening perpendicular to the elongated opening at the opposite end. Lamond discloses a circular external shape with a tapered end which is tapered toward the wrench head end of the tool. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the ends of the shroud of the double ended wrench of Hsien as tapered toward the wrench head ends of the tool such that the cavity of the shroud conforms to the cross-sectional shape of the tool main body portion to secure the shroud thereto and allow for a smooth outer surface as taught by Lamond.

3. Claims 24-25, 27-28, 32-33 and 35-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hsien in view of Lamond as applied above, in further view of Smith et al.

Smith et al discloses a handle shroud being formed as two interconnecting or separate parts joined by a hinge. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the shroud of Hsien with two interconnecting or separate parts joined by a hinge to allow for the attachment to a tool as taught by Smith et al.

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

5. Applicant's arguments filed February 24, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986). Hsien is no longer being applied individually under 35 USC 102. Consequently, arguments directed to Hsien individually are not on point and deemed moot. Arguments directed to Lamond or Smith et al individually are also not on point. The rejection is based upon the combined teachings of Hsien and Lamond (and in further view of Smith et al) in the manner as set forth, above.

Hsien discloses opposing perpendicular openings on a shroud for a twisted wrench. Lamond discloses a shroud having a tapered end tapered toward the wrench head end of the tool and the shroud conforming internally to the polygonal shape of the tool handle with an external circular non-conforming shape. Since the shroud of Lamond is tapered toward the wrench head, forming the shroud of Hsien with the taper would teach the forming of a taper at both ends since Hsien discloses two wrench heads at opposite ends of the handle.
